Echo moving to Hwy. 90; old building to be demolished for new condo project

ECHO STAFF

The Sea Coast Echo building at 124 Court Street will be demolished later this year and the land will be used for a new four-story condominium project.

The sale of the land and building closed last week. Also last week, the Echo signed a lease to rent office space for the newspaper at 835 Hwy 90 Unit 8. The rental space is in Hancock Square in the same building which is on the north side of Highway 90 and is fronted at 835 Hwy 90 by the State Farm Insurance

Mike Meyer Agency location.

The condo project, known as 124 Court, will feature a total of 24 residential units and three commercial locations. The commercial units will be on the ground floor along with a few residential units. The top three floors will have the other 22 residential units, including six on the top floor.

The developer -- 124 Court Development, LLC -- has been engaged in similar developments since 1985. They have numerous developments in Florida and other states. Past projects include custom home developments, condo buildings, retail centers, apartments, and more.

Principals of the corporation are Steve Drown and Jared Riecke.

The development will likely have restaurants on the ground floor. The top of the unit will be a rooftop deck with views of the water. Also in the plans will be a fitness center and a library

Diamondhead unveils draft of 20-year comprehensive plan

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

The city of Diamondhead on Thursday unveiled the draft version of its "Envision Diamondhead 2040" program, a 20-year comprehensive plan that kicked off last year with a series of community meetings to acquire residents' input on what the city should look like over the next two decades.

"It really is a vision of what you want the city to be," City Manager Michael J. Reso said at the time. "Where do we want to be? Where do we want to spend capital dollars for roads and bike lanes and other community projects?"

Orion Planning and Design crafted the plan, with community input.

According to the detailed analysis in the Envision 2040 plan, the city is poised for rapid growth, with expansion in several different areas of the city.

Bay council shoots down $3 million 'emergency' line of credit

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Two members of the Bay St. Louis City Council last week struck down Mayor Mike Favre's request to open a line of credit up to $3 million to provide funds for cleanup from Hurricane Zeta.

The council met in a recessed session last Thursday to discuss the emergency loan resolution, which had been tabled from the council's previous meeting.

"I feel like the line of credit is necessary to keep the city moving forward," Ward 6 Councilman Josh DeSalvo said. "I feel the council and the mayor have done a great job the last three-and-a-half years, but we just couldn't predict a hurricane (this big) coming along and causing $3.5 million worth of damage."

DeSalvo said the city needed the line

Shellfish Concerns: Huge crowd packs Coleman Ave. for Crawfish Cook-Off

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

Hundreds of people crowded elbow-to-elbow and crawfish tail-tocrawfish tail on Coleman Avenue in Waveland on Saturday for the 13th annual Crawfish Cook-Off hosted by C&R's Bar & Grill.

This year's event benefitted the Hancock Resource Center. "It was great to be back together as a community, especially for a good cause," C&R's owner Nadine Brown said. "Many, many thanks to our community, our teams and Hancock Resource Center and their hard working volunteers. Kudos to Rhonda Rhodes — you did a great job!"

"It was great to have the community together again for an event like that," Rhodes, executive director of the Hancock Resource Center, said. Events like the Crawfish Cook-off are a great way to help us serve the people of Hancock County.

"We serve about 1,200 families a year in this community, and fundraising like that helps us cover things that our grants won't pay for."

day that he was grateful to Brown and C&R's for hosting the event, and for all the people who came out to eat crawfish and have a great time at the cook-off.

"It's nice to see so many people out here on Coleman Avenue on such a beautiful day," he said.

Twenty-one teams competed for trophies and cash prizes.

This year's first-place winner was Tongue Candy. Second place went to the "Put Some South in Your Mouth" team. Third place went to Mississippi Power.

Two men arrested after car chase, shooting spree sparked by apparent ‘drug deal gone bad’

Police on Sunday arrest a suspect after a car chase/shooting spree through residential streets in Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

BY STACEY CATO
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

Police on Sunday charged two Gulfport men for aggravated assault and robbery after numerous gunshots were fired throughout the streets of residential areas in both Waveland and Bay St. Louis in an apparent “drug deal gone bad.”

On Sunday at around 11:05 a.m., “Waveland officers responded to the area of Old Spanish Trail and Oxford Place in reference to a shooting involving persons in a silver sedan and an orange pick up truck,” according to a press release issued Monday by Waveland Police Chief Mike Prendergast. “Officers arrived in the area and were unable to locate the subjects or the vehicles. Moments later, central dispatch advised of a two-vehicle accident at Old Spanish Trail and Turner Street, in Bay Saint Louis involving the vehicles that were involved in the shooting in Waveland. The subjects fled the scene but were later captured and taken into custody.”

Keith Cooper

Dayquan Perkins, 21, and Keith Cooper, 19, both of Gulfport were charged with armed robbery and aggravated assault manifesting in extreme indifference to human life, Prendergast said.

“At the scene of the shooting officers began talking to witnesses who advised they saw persons in an orange truck and a silver sedan chasing each other off of Oxford Place towards Old Spanish Trail where multiple gun shots were heard,” Prendergast said.

“During the investigation it was determined that the incident was a ‘drug deal gone bad,’” Prendergast said.

Multiple homes and vehicles were riddled with bullets as the incident occurred, but police said that no major injuries have been reported.

Pendergast said more charges are expected, since the shooting spree threatened the lives of innocent people and damaged property.

“The Waveland Police Department would like to thank the citizens of Waveland and Bay Saint Louis for reaching out with private videos of the incident,” Prendergast said. “If you have video or information involving this incident please contact Chief Investigator Eddie Hursey at 228-467-3669 or CRIMESTOPPERS AT 1-877-787-5898.”

for residents. The developers expect some of the units will have full time residents while others could serve as second homes for others. Some of the units may be available for rental.

Condos will have studio, one-, two- and three-bedroom options ranging in size from 547 sq. ft. to 1,452 sq. ft. The building will be 50-feet tall and will feature gated parking.

After demolition later this summer, construction is expected to take 16-18 months.

The property is adjacent to the municipal parking garage.

The Echo – which has served Bay St. Louis and Hancock County for 128 years – recently outsourced the printing of the weekly newspaper and sold its press to another newspaper in Arkansas.

“While the Echo is a little sad to leave its home of almost 40 years, once we outsourced the printing of the Echo it was clear we no longer needed all of this space,” Echo General Manager Geoff Belcher said. “It made sense for the Echo to find a new smaller home so that someone with great plans for our old property would be able to put them to use for the good of the community.”

“The Echo will continue to serve this community for many more years. Moving to a more practical location is all part of the plan to ensure our commitment to the community,” Belcher said. “We’re excited to be a part of bringing more development to Historic Old Town Bay St. Louis.”

The Echo will remain in operation at the 124 Court Street location for several more weeks. Plans call for the newspaper to move to its new location in late May or early June. Watch the Echo for more definite information on that when it becomes available.

many shops and restaurants, we were able to give many nice prizes to our lucky winners.”

The funds raised from Hancock County Relay for Life campaigns stay within the local community, which help cancer patients fund transportation to and from treatments, lodging, wigs, and more.

To date, Cullen said, Relay for Life of Hancock County has raised almost $34,000 this year.

The first Luminary ceremony was held on the grounds of the Bay St. Louis Depot.

According to the American Cancer Society’s website,”Luminaries honor every life touched by cancer. You can dedicate them to a loved one lost, someone currently battling or anyone who’s overcome it. When you attend a Relay event, you’ll see the Luminaries decorated with names and sometimes messages to the people they’re dedicated to. After dark, Relay participants share an emotional moment when each Luminaia is lit in remembrance of a life touched by cancer.”

Cullen said that 350 luminary bags were on display Saturday night, “honoring, supporting, and remembering their loved ones.”

There are four more Luminary Ceremonies scheduled this month and luminaries can be purchased from noon to 2 p.m. at the local library the day of the event:

May 8: Relay Around the County Luminary ceremony will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. on Coleman Ave. Purchase luminaries from 12 to 2 p.m. at the local library the day of ceremony; Waveland branch is located at 345 Coleman Ave. Honorary Survivor Rachel Yarborough will also speak at this ceremony.

May 15: Relay Around the County Luminary ceremony will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. at Diamondhead City Hall Town Green. Purchase luminaries from 12 to 2 p.m. at the local library the day of ceremony; Diamondhead branch is located at 4545 Shepherd Square.

May 22: Relay Around the County Luminary ceremony will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. at the Kiln Walking Track, next to the library. Purchase luminaries from 12 to 2 p.m. at the local library the day of ceremony; Kiln branch is located at 17065 Hwy. 603.

May 29: Relay around the County Luminary ceremony will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. at Pearlington Walking Track, next to library. Purchase luminaries from 12 to 2 p.m. at the local library the day of ceremony; Pearlington branch is located at 6096 1st St.

Cullen said that Coast Electric is hosting the 6th annual Glow Run benefiting Really on June 19 at 6:30 p.m. at the Washington Street Pier.

Cullen would also like to thank Relay’s partners: Coast Electric, Hollywood Casino, and Keesler Federal Credit Union.

Saturday’s ceremony also featured a speech by this year’s Honorary Survivor, Rachel Yarborough of Bay St. Louis. She was joined on stage by her husband Gary, and their children, Jude, Brock, Brooks, and Beau Emy.

“Our 2021 Honorary Survivor Rachel Yarborough is loved and admired by so many in this community,” Cullen said. “Her courage, attitude, and perseverance are examples of how we should all live our lives every day. Her families are role models for caregivers. Her children are her joy and they give her strength. Her large family are always there for her as well as this loving community.”

Rachel said when she received the call about being this year’s Honorary Survivor, while generally a private person, she thought it was important that she share her story.

“I would like to thank you all for this immense honor,” she said. “It’s an honor to be selected, it’s an honor to be part of this community, it’s an honor to have the support of my family and friends and this community.”

Rachel was diagnosed with Stage 4 Leiomyosarcoma in August 2018, a rare type of cancer, which began in her inferior vena cava and spread to both lungs, liver, and chest cavity.

It is a slow growing cancer and she said that they believe she had it for about 10 to 15 years before she became symptomatic and diagnosed.

“And it wasn’t that I was asymptomatic, I just ignored what my body was telling me at the time,” she said. “But, by divine intervention, I’ve had four beautiful children that all came very healthy and curious.”

Rachel said that “we all have to deal with cancer in some form or fashion, and we all know what type of impact cancer can have on our lives.”

“We know what it can take away,” she said. “It took away my father (Charles Perniciaro) a little over a month ago. I felt it important to share my story to share and discuss what cancer cannot take away and also what cancer can give. Cancer can make us love more, love better, be kinder. Cancer cannot take our faith, rather it often enhances it, ridding of us the distractions that deter our faithful paths. Also, while it certainly takes time from us, it also directs us to appreciate our blessings, time we have and use it better. We find empathy, kindness, sharing prayers, even love. We find these with our family, friends, and with our community. And the effect of cancer is to accent and enhance these attributes, makes us better people to each other and brings out the kindness for us all to share together. With my disease and its impacts on my life, my family has recognized that we are truly blessed. While the disease has taken things away from me, hair, physical strength, time with my family, timing of many aspects of my journey have depended on my faith in God and his blessings, irrespective of what my family will endure.”

Rachel said that she calls her daughter, three-year-old Beau Emy her “miracle baby.”

She said that the tumors inside her body likely “festered for years.”

“However, after only after Beau Emy’s life was viable did the tumors impact my health,” she said. “They also did not impact the life of my other children. Immediately upon delivery, after a week of intense hospitalization, Gary and I got to hear the first scream and cry of our precious Beau Emy. And she’s sassy, yet perfect today. She and our other children are our blessings from God and he steered them to health, irrespective of what was happening within my body. We will always have our life’s stories, our faith, our love for one another, the blessings of our life. We must allow cancer to impede or take these treasures away. Cancer impacts us all. It has impacted my body and how my day-to-day life operates. My focus and hope if for us all is that we continue to help and support each other and that it doesn’t impact our souls, spirits, and faith or love of one another. Cancer hasn’t impacted the love I have for my family and friends. It cannot touch my faith, but has enhanced it and has allowed me to be better to people and see the great community we have and the innate love of mankind. These are blessings I will always have. I wake up every morning knowing that I am blessed and it’s one of the first things that I think when I wake up. Always have faith, hope, mindfulness of what we are blessed with. Cancer cannot take this away. And we will have the faith that when we are weak and weary, our blessings, community, and friends will help with the load. Hold your blessings tight. Let nothing, cancer or otherwise, allow you to question those gifts from God.”

Rachel said she didn’t have the words to thank her husband and caretaker Gary enough.

“He sat with me in stark hospital rooms for 60 days in a row,” she said. “Been there every step of the way.”

Gary said that through his experience, he has realized that “we all end up being caregivers for each other.”

He said that he remember when Rachel was first diagnosed, “you don’t plan on anything, you don’t know what’s coming, and don’t know what the next day will bring, so you appreciate the love of each other and the time you have. You treasure the good times and make the best out of the more difficult times.”

“Rachel and I have a great marriage and we are blessed to have each other, we’ve always been blessed to have other,” he said. “You prioritize your time, treasure the good times, but make the best out of the more difficult and stressful times.”

Gary said that the role of a caregiver can be “tiring” sometimes, but there has always been someone in their family or within the community to support them.

He also spoke of his “crush on this hottie at Bay High,” when he was a sophomore.

“She’s a cougar by trade,” he said. “She was a senior and I was a sophomore. I almost asked her to Homecoming. She said ‘I wish you had.’ But she wouldn’t have gone out with me then. So it ended up happening a little later. So it probably started a little later than I wanted it to. And it may end a little bit sooner than we have liked it. Being a caregiver for her and her for me, we always support each other and it’s the joy of my life taking care of my family and them taking care of me. Thank you all for our community and for the help and love you all give us. Be kind to each other and caregivers for each other. Just take care of each others’ physical and mental health and wellbeing and enjoy this fleeting life we have together.”

A mother's love

My mother is a saint. Ever since my siblings and I were young children, she would always tell us to “show God’s love” in any situation.

If we were asked to share something with a sibling or another child, show God’s love.

If we were to show appreciation and gratitude, show God’s love.

It became a mantra, and those words stuck with me throughout my childhood and into my adult life. A phrase so simple became words to live by.

Even if you don’t believe in God, it’s important to try to show unconditional love and compassion for others.

This is something I believe in my heart.

Mother’s Day is a celebration of that love.

There were many instances where I lashed out at her, called her names under my breath or resented her behind her back.

Yet, even though she would be hurt, she would always be willing to forgive me quickly and take me back to her loving embrace.

Yes, she would “show God’s love.” That’s what people do when they are wronged. They learn to forgive and somehow, they learn to move on.

Not everyone can have a love such as this, I understand that. It depends on the severity of the wrongdoing. It is in trying to forgive someone for a grave wrongdoing that counts even if that person may no longer have anything to do with the person who wronged them.

This can give a person closure and the ability to move forward.

There have been many instances in my mother’s life (in respect to her privacy, I will not share those here), where she has forgiven many people, and that is a shining example to me and testament of her faith and commitment to love.

A mother is supposed to look after her children and make sure they have the things they need to survive on their own. This is true.

More importantly, in my opinion, she is to be that example of unconditional love so that her children may one day grow to show that love too. Happy Mother’s Day.

Hancock History: The Civil War

The American Civil War was fought both on land and the sea. Volunteers from Hancock County formed two companies of infantry that were the nucleus of The Third Regiment of the Confederate Army. Moreover, this regiment played an important role in many of the land battles of the war from 1861-1865. Hancock County citizens fought in the naval engagements in the Mississippi Sound, Lake Pontchartrain, and the Mississippi River. In particular, a naval blockade was the key ingredient of the Anaconda Strategy of Union General Winfield Scott which crippled the economy of the South. Key players in this drama include young officers and soldiers from prominent families like Saucier, Poitevent, Toulme, Baxter, and Carr and the loyal women who supported this lost cause.

In the summer of 1861, the young men of Hancock County volunteered for the army. Two companies were formed from the county. The first was the “Shieldsboro Rifles,” and on June 29, 1861, Mayor Julian Monet swore into service for the State Of Mississippi fifty-seven raw recruits. It is of interest that twelve of these lads could not sign their own names to the document.

In fact one third were below age twenty and another one third were under age twenty-five. Accordingly, the State of Mississippi provided rifles to the soldiers, but their uniforms were made by their loved ones at home. Many were mariners, fishermen, oystermen, and ship carpenters representative of the occupations of this little fishing village of Shieldsboro (Bay St. Louis) of approximately one thousand people. Hence this company was mustered into the Confederate Army on October 5, 1861. John V. Toulme (1827-1901) was from a much respected old family in Hancock County and was commissioned the rank of first lieutenant of this company-later promoted to captain.

In the town of Gainesville approximately fifty men volunteered for service and the “Gainesville Vounnteers” were mustered into state service on July 9, 1861. Specifically these soldiers came from Pearlington, Logtown, and Gainesville which had an accumulative population of approximately seven hundred people. The company was commanded by Captain John B. Deason (1824-1900) who was a veteran of the Mexican War of 1846. He was an attorney before and after the Civil War and the General Collection Agent of Hancock County. Incidentally, these men in the coastal counties were principally French Catholics. The volunteers met and drilled for several months without pay. In any case the Gainesville Volunteers were mustered into the Confederate army on October 5, 1861.

A good use of funds

Dear Editor:

Thank you for your article on the visit to our community by Lt. Gov. Delbert Hosemann.

He spoke to local officials and citizens about the disbursement of the American Rescue Act funds that have been approved by the Biden Administration. He urged the community to come up with “long-term transitional” projects ... “not for one or two years, but one or two generations”.

I had the opportunity to share an idea with him. What if we put solar panels at our schools, and then used the savings in our utility bills to raise teacher salaries?

He said that was a good example of a project that would have generational impact. I asked – what’s the next step?

He said we’re off to a good start because State Sen. Philip Moran and State Rep. Brent Anderson and State Rep. Jay McKnight were all in the room. The next step would be to convince them that this is a good way to use these funds.

I sure hope that our fellow citizens agree that it’s a good idea, and will contact our elected officials to encourage them to work on this!

Barber said at the time. “It creates the vision for the future based on residents’ input. It directs the future land use for zoning, ordinances, mobility, capital projects (i.e. roads, drainage, buildings, and other infrastructure needs). A plan of action will be developed and implemented over time to achieve the vision that our residents have imagined through this year-long process.”

“Diamondhead’s buildout analysis reveals the city can accommodate over 2,800 dwelling units representing more than 5,800 persons in the future for lands in residential zoning,” according to the report. “Commercially zoned land will accommodate nearly 2,000,000 square feet of additional space while industrially zoned land will accommodate over 650,000 square feet of floor space.

The Envision Diamondhead 2040 sets out the historic growth statistics of the city and projects that growth into the future. Based on that analysis, “the city can be characterized as very constrained in its ability to grow in ways other than infill or redevelopment areas impacted by Hurricane Katrina in which development patterns are generally fixed,” according to the report. “In addition to Diamondhead’s constrained ability to accommodate non-infill growth, development has, and is, occurring on the fringes of the city just outside its borders in Hancock County. The city has no formal planning control over this areas. These two factors combined indicate an increasing need to expand the city’s borders. Expanded industrial activity, additional road access to the city, and guiding the development and redevelopment of land on the fringe of Diamondhead all require expansion.

The plan’s demographic analysis indicates that Diamondhead experienced rapid population growth between 2000 and 2020, experiencing a 58.5 increase in population compared to 11.4 percent growth in Hancock County over the same time frame. The analysis indicates that Diamondhead’s population grew from 5,912 in the year 2000 to 8,425 in 2010 to 9,370 by 2020. Further extrapolation indicates the population will be 10,929 by 2040.

The report also indicates that the city of Diamondhead “leaked” approximately $135 million in retail sales over the past year.

KAPALAMA DRIVE ENTRY EXPANSION AREA

The plan identifies the Kapalama Drive Entry Expansion Area on the north side of Diamondhead as being ripe for expansion. The area “is primarily commercial in nature and has developed under the planning and zoning standards of Hancock County,” according to the report. “The commercial uses in the developed portion of this area provide Diamondhead and surrounding areas with community scale consumer goods and services. Development consists of numerous metal buildings sites with large parking areas between buildings and street. There is no site landscaping and area is generic in character.”

EASTERN GATEWAY EXPANSION AREA

The report also identifies the “Eastern Gateway Expansion Area,” which “lies directly east of Diamondhead in Harrison County. This area stretches from Interstate 10 to the intersection of Kiln-Delisle Road and Kapalama Drive. The area is predominantly rural in nature with a numerous larger undivided agricultural tracts, large rural residential lots and dwellings, and industrial activity located at the Interstate Exit.”

CRITERIA FOR EXPANSION

The Envision 2040 plan calls for annexation in several key areas adjacent to the city.

The plan’s demographic analysis indicates that Diamondhead experienced rapid population growth between 2000 and 2020, experiencing a 58.5 increase in population compared to 11.4 percent growth in Hancock County over the same time frame. The analysis indicates that Diamondhead’s population grew from 5,912 in the year 2000 to 8,425 in 2010 to 9,370 by 2020. Further extrapolation indicates the population will be 10,929 by 2040.

The report also indicates that the city of Diamondhead “leaked” approximately $135 million in retail sales over the past year.

“Stores in Diamondhead sold $69.8 million in merchandise while consumers living in Diamondhead spent $204.9 million in merchandise,” according to the analysis. “Therefore, Diamondhead leaked $135.1 million in sales last year. ... which translates into opportunities to capture existing market demand. Key opportunities include grocery stores, restaurants (both full-service and limited-service), clothing stores, and pharmacies and drug stores.

The retail leakage analysis suggests that there is significant demand in both Diamondhead and the 15-minute trade area, but much of that demand is absorbed within the larger region. Therefore, it is not realistic to expect to capture all of the existing retail leakage experienced in Diamondhead and the trade area. However, there are many opportunities for Diamondhead to capture a percentage of both local and regional demand, particularly if attention is given to recruiting businesses that match the local market. For example, if Diamondhead were to recapture 25 percent of the LOCAL demand generated by residents of the city limits, it could support approximately 67,436 sf of new retail. This is a conservative scenario.”

The plan also seems to indicate that the city council’s proposal to incorporate the Diamondhead Water and Sewer District and the Diamondhead Fire District under the city’s umbrella might be necessary in the near future:

“While current arrangements have delivered required public services to Diamondhead thus far, the ongoing delivery of services by four separate entities in an efficient and cost-effective way will be an increasing challenge. The ongoing risk of fragmentation is high. Multiple management structures, budgeting systems and service delivery priorities expose the need for intense cooperation. ... Collaborative effort must be made to determine if the community would be better served by a centralized provider – i.e. if the City took over responsibility of providing the various services. A specialized study of this type could address potential efficiencies gained through consolidation of services.”

The plan identifies four types of commercial places and activity centers where changes can and should occur, including several areas ripe for “suburban redevelopment; a newly-formed Town Center, the Aloha District and the “suburban center.”

SUBURBAN REDEVELOPMENT

The major entryway into Diamondhead at the intersection of Aloha and Gex drives was identified as an ideal place for suburban redevelopment.

“Because the area was not master planned, it developed in unincorporated Hancock County under county zoning controls,” according to the report. “These controls allowed for commercial development that was heavily automobile oriented, of minimal architectural character, and characterized by excessive parking areas devoid of landscaping and lacking pedestrian facilities.

Additional suburban redevelopment places included the area at I-10 and DeLisle Road and the northern entrance into Diamondhead along Kapalama.

DIAMONDHEAD’S ALOHA DISTRICT

“Better patterns are available for developing land along suburban arterials and East Aloha Drive is uniquely well positioned for a significant redevelopment and improvements known as a Suburban Retrofit,” according to the report. “The proposed redevelopment of East Aloha Drive seeks to establish a ‘Main Street’ concept that has nearly always been successful in downtowns around the country. This pattern will help establish a strong sense of place which is vital to the health, prosperity and sustainability of downtown. It is comprised of mixed-use buildings of varying height, with retail shops, restaurants, civic uses, and offices lining each side of the street and residential dwellings located on the upper floors. Successful implementation will create pedestrian friendly, vibrant public places where residents and visitors gather, to live, work, and play and help to establish Diamondhead as a visitor destination.”

TOWN CENTER

One of the main long-term goals of the plan is to organize a formal “Town Center” for the city. Among potential profitable new businesses and facilities in the town center identified as pin the study:

- A small independent/specialty sporting goods store.
- Coffee shop
- Retail, dining and entertainment options
- Hotel
- Expansion of civic and cultural spaces, including the city hall, library, a courthouse, performing arts center and amphitheater.

“Town Center Mixed Use is to provide for and promote the development of a compact mixed use town center reflecting the timeless building patterns of traditional downtowns,” according to the report. “These characteristics include design features that prioritize pedestrian activity, human scales, outdoor environments, abundant landscape and natural features, and quality architecture. The district accommodates a range of commercial, residential, small scale production, open space and recreational activities. While land use is a very important element in the district, building form, lot placement, and streetscape take precedent in creating the desired environment.”

SUBURBAN CENTERS

The Envision 2040 plan identifies “suburban centers in unincorporated Hancock County that, once annexed, can be “retrofitted” to achieve the “appropriate gateway appearance and aesthetic quality”

TOWN WATERFRONT

The plan also envisions expansion of Diamondhead’s current waterfront district which would include hotels, an expanded marina, an amphitheater, mixed-product dwellings, mixed use development and condominiums.

TECHNOLOGY AND INDUSTRY

Envision Diamondhead 2040 designates two areas for the development of industrial and technology facilities. Area 1 surrounds the Diamondhead Airport with the airport serving as an anchoring amenity. Area 2 is located in Diamondhead’s expansion area and takes advantage of the convenient access to Interstate - 10. It also lies in proximity to other major Harrison County manufacturing.

The Envision 2040 plan also maps out a 20-year plan for rural development, greenways, blueways and recreational facilities.

The Diamondhead City Council has not yet adopted the Envision 2040 plan. The next step, officials said, is to get additional feedback from residents on the draft proposal, then allow the city council the opportunity to vote whether to enact it.

of credit "to continue with all the projects we have on the books. We have about $8.5 million dollars in projects going on right now, and that's all reimbursable ... but we're going to have to wait to be reimbursed.

"We're going to be close to $3 million in expenditures already for Zeta cleanup. We also have a few hundred thousand to a million dollars' worth of Zeta-related projects we still need to complete."

Under state law, any emergency spending resolution requires unanimous agreement of the council members. However, both Councilman-at-Large Gary Knoblock and Ward 3 Councilman Jeffrey Reed voted against the measure on Thursday.

Knoblock said he was concerned about the need for the credit line "for several reasons."

"First, the new council will be sworn in on July 1st, and I felt this was an issue for the new council to decide," Knoblock said in a social media post. "To open a three million dollar line of credit two months before a new governing body takes office is questionable."

Although most of the current city councilmen retained their positions after the primary elections last month, there will be at least one new councilman sworn in on July 1, Kyle Lewis, who is the Ward 4 councilman-elect. Ward 2 Councilman Gene Hoffman, a Republican, is scheduled to face former Ward 2 Councilwoman Wendy McDonald in the general election next month.

Knoblock said he also was not sure the measure met the requirements for emergency funding, which require that there be "no other available funds on hand or available from regular sources of income for such purposes."

"We are still collecting sales tax, casino revenues, permit fees (and) Use Tax revenue," Knoblock said. "We have available funds that are coming in monthly."

Knoblock said the funds are available to continue to pay employees and bills, and there are other funds and grant matches the council can access if there is a problem.

In addition, he said, the city "has 10.5 million dollars on hand with 5.9 million for the 2020 GO Bond, and the city is waiting for one million dollars in reimbursable funds the city is owed for projects which we paid."

So far, the city has paid invoices amounting to about $2.3 million in repairs necessitated by Hurricane Zeta. Much of that money is eligible for reimbursement by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA).

DeSalvo said that although the credit line resolution didn't pass last week, Mayor Favre's administration will likely bring it up again at the council's regularly scheduled meeting on May 18.

"We'll have our financial advisor there with all the paperwork to proceed with the loan," DeSalvo said. "The fees the attorney and financial advisor have offered to do this for is a no-brainer — $6,500 in fees to have $3 million available, if we need it. Which we might not, but I think we will. And the interest rate is just .08 percent."

"I just feel it's necessary to keep the city moving forward. I hope my fellow councilmen will feel the same way by then."

Reflections for Mother's Day

By C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

This Sunday, May 9th is set aside as our national observance of Mother's Day. It is a day in our society in which we recognize and express appreciation for the profound impact of mothers, and those who serve as mother figures in so many ways.

It would be hard to imagine a role which has greater, or more significant, importance in so many lives than that of mother. The physical act of giving birth is, for most mothers, just the beginning of the story. Mothers guide our thinking, influence our morality, play a large role in our spiritual development, and maybe most important of all, provide us with the assurance that there is someone who will always be there for us....always in our corner.

Of course motherhood, and families in general have changed substantially over the years. Women no longer have to live by as many assumptions as they once did. The days are thankfully gone when teaching, nursing, and secretary were the presumptive careers for females. Some of the best doctors, attorneys, engineers, architects, business people, clergy, and leaders in many others fields are women. Our society is far better off as a result. In the midst of this substantial change, it is still true that the role of mother remains one of the most important in our lives. It is amazing and gratifying to witness women fulfilling their roles as professional career people while also excelling as mothers. It is also important to think of the examples they are setting for their daughters who are growing up with a different set of assumptions than those of the past.

C. Gerald Richardson, D. Min.

It is certainly true that none of this is easy. Our society continues to wrestle with the complications of this transitional time. Expectations on many fronts can be contradictory. The temptation to try to meet all the demands, and to keep everyone happy can be overwhelming.

Do not lose heart. Change can be, and usually is, challenging. However, we see evidence everyday of families that are happy. Children still thrive. Life is rich and full for a great many people, and, to be honest, it is often the mothers who continue to keep things together.

Hopefully, our institutions, churches, business communities, and other professional settings will be innovative and daring as they make way for the mothers of the future.

In the meantime, on this Mother's Day weekend, take a moment to whisper a prayer of gratitude for all the mothers and mother figures past, present, and future. They have and do enrich our lives in immeasurable ways, and they leave a lasting impact on our souls.

Thank you Moms. Happy Mother's Day.

The mask mandate will remain in effect inside school buildings and classrooms for the remainder of the 2020-2021 school year, the order states.

Reeves still encourages residents to follow the CDC and Mississippi State Department of Health's guidelines to prevent the spread of COVID-19, which include: Wearing a face covering, covering the nose and mouth while in public places when it is not possible to maintain social distancing; avoiding large gatherings, particularly indoors; maintain social distancing between persons not in your household; practice good hygiene such as hand washing; and stay at home if you feel sick or have COVID-19 symptoms.

The order also states that businesses can implement their own policies with regard to masks, etc.

Meet Kilo. This 3 year old Black & Tan Coonhound mix, is a typical, affable hound dog. He makes friends with everyone he meets! He loves exploring our doggie playground, and loves to be tussled with and petted. Taking a leisurely walk is out of the question with Kilo. This Hound is on a mission to follow and collect every scent on his path. He's a goofy, sweet boy, and we adore those long ears of his. His new home must be securely fenced, or Kilo will follow his nose right off your property. He would be a great pal for an active single person or couple, or a family with kids who enjoy romping-n-playing outdoors with their BFF. If you would like Kilo to join your family, please call our front desk at.228-466-4516 (Mon-Fri 10am-4pm) to schedule a meet-n-greet.

The high school track and field season for Bay High, Hancock, Pass Christian and Saint Stanislaus came to a close on Saturday at Pearl High School.

The 2A-4A-6A state meet was held under sunny skies and warm Temps. The 1A-3A-5A state meet, which includes Our Lady Academy, will be run on Thursday due to inclement weather this past Friday.

The Rocks traveled to Pearl with great expectations of their 15 entries in the championship meet after having won the Division 8-4A, Region 4-4A, and Class 4A South State titles in convincing fashion.

Of the roster that was brought to Pearl, only two members had ever been to 'Tracktown Mississippi' before, so it was an eye-opening experience. The team ended the season with two state titles and seven medals.

The Rocks squared off with 4A North Champion Pontotoc High School that sported 21 entries in the meet along with 24 other teams.

Pontotoc, with sheer entry numbers, outdistanced SSC for the team title scoring 103 points to the Rocks 89 points. Pass Christian scored 23 points to finish ninth while Bay High tallied 11 points to finish 18th overall.

In the meet, the Rocks were led by double-winner Keegan Leverett in the 1600m and 3200m runs. He posted personal bests of 4:42.07 and 10:10.59, respectively.

He also led off the silver medal winning 4x800m relay Carson Leverett, Gabe Sandoz, and Gus Breisacher which recorded a time of 8:47.46.

Ryan Tyler collected a silver medal in the discus with a throw of 128' 8".

Chandler Chapman brought home a bronze medal in the 300m hurdles with a time of 41.52.

Chapman also led off the bronze medal winning 4x100m relay with teammates Nour Tayara, Canye Bankston, and Ja'Kobe Cameron in a time of 43.89.

The 4x200m relay team of Chapman, Kitto, Bankston, and Cameron also brought home bronze with a time of 1:31.68.

Other finishes included Cameron finishing fifth in the 200m in 23.05 and Chapman was sixth in the 110m hurdles in 16.05.

Gabe Sandoz recorded fourth place finishes in the 1600m and 3200m runs with personal best times of 4:44.59 and 10:43.48, respectively.

The 4x400m relay team of Andrew Mayer,

Christian Kitto, Evan Noel, and Sandoz turned in a season best time of 3:38.05 to placed third and gather the bronze medal.

It was the first time in school history that all four relay teams medaled at the state meet.

Jacob Hanlon collected a fourth place finish in the discus with a throw of 116' 4" and a seventh place finish in the pole vault with a height of 10'.

Kitto rounded out the scoring with a fourth place finish in the pole vault with a height of 11' 6".

It was a historic year for SSC in track and field as the team won the division, region, and South State titles in the same year and then just missed on the program's first state title.

With a solid core returning for next year, the Rocks bid a fond farewell to their seniors led by Gabe Sandoz, Jacob Hanlon, Andrew Mayer, Nicholas Toepfer, Christian Kitto, Nour Tayara, Trustin Northington, William Trapani, Ryan McClellon, and Liam Flickinger.

The Pass Christian Pirates brought home two medals from the state championships. Thomas Carter led the Pirates with a silver medal performance in the pole vault with a height of 13' 6" while Montrell McGowan took home bronze in the high jump with a height of 6' 4".

In other performances, the Pirates' 4x800m relay team was fifth with a time of 9:12.97 and Zach Thomas was fourth in the 800m with a time of 2:06.46.

The Bay High Tigers brought home a bronze medal when Terron Bedford took third in the shot put with a throw of 46' 1 1/4" followed by teammate Devin Gaspard in fourth with a throw of 42' 10".

Hancock did not have a participant in the boys Class 6A meet.

On the girls side, the Pass Christian Lady Pirates scored 48 points to finish fourth in Class 4A behind champion Raymond with 80 points. Bay High scored five points to finish tied for 23rd in the field of 31 teams.

The Lady Pirates were led by medalists Isabella DeFelicibus, Katherine Newman, and Kyla Bell.

DeFelicibus brought silver in the pole vault with a height of 9' while teammate Newman was third with a height of 8' 6".

Bell brought home bronze in the high jump with a height of 5'.

Other performances included a fifth place finish in high jump by Haleigh Haynes with a height of 5' and a fourth place finish in the triple jump by Chanel Howard with a leap of 35' 2".

The Lady Pirates' 4x800m relay team placed sixth with a time of 11:54.60 while Hailee Simms finished fourth in the 100m hurdles with a time of 18.40. Kealey Skinner also finished fourth in the 800m run with a time of 2:35.10.

Haley Clark and Aleah West finished fifth and seventh in the 3200m run with times of 13:53.31 and 15:44.27, respectively.

The Lady Tigers were led by McKenzie Ladner with a sixth place finish in the 300m hurdles with a time of 53.29 and Claudia Timms with an eighth place finish in the 1600m run with a time of 6:24.86.

Karly Wilson was the lone performer for the Lady Hawks of Hancock and finished eighth in the 800m run with a time of 2:31.12.

The Class 6A girls team title was collected by Clinton with 137 points while the 6A boys title was claimed by Pearl with 95 points.

The team titles in Class 2A were swept by St. Patrick with 130.5 points in the girls division and 113 points in the boys division.

OLA will compete on Thursday in the 1A-3A-5A state meet at Pearl High School.
